Thank you very Much for information

As already communicated he was absent till 10 am on the Said day and was reported by his TCSP I personally called him many time but he was not answering, letter on he visited a team with which already two supervisors were there for support and supervision and one team in his assigned area was left unsupervised and there was a clear instructions that random supervision are not allowed .This is not his 1st time that he shows slackness towards his duty For which your good office already warn him ,

If he promised that in next he will be vigilant for his duty then this explanation is acceptable otherwise proceed per SOP please .

Best Regards:
