

LOT QUALITY ASSURANCE SAMPLING (LQAS)

Lot Quality Assurance Sampling (LQAS) is a rapid survey method to assess the quality of vaccination coverage following supplementary immunization activities in pre-defined areas such as a district using a small sample size (lots).

eLQAS

eLQAS is an electronic version of LQAS that uses phones and tablets to improve LQAS on paper. eLQAS enables real time results, increased data quality, improved accountability, easier implementation, and support for multiple languages.

Objectives of eLQAS

- The objective of a clustered-LQAS survey in the Pakistan Polio Programme is to determine whether the vaccination programme has achieved the desired level of performance in a given area (lot) in order to take corrective measures when needed.
- The objective is NOT to provide coverage estimates OR to be used as a tool to punish anyone from the programme

What eLQAS Shows?

eLQAS will provide:

- A classification of a UC as PASS or FAIL based on pre-defined vaccination coverage assumptions
Good / Needs Improvement / Problems Exist / Serious Problems Exist are used to highlight the extent of the issues
- Information to highlight the need for an investigation to determine if a mop-up is necessary

What eLQAS does not Show?

- Estimation of Vaccination Coverage
- Information about factors associated with coverage
- Quality of the individual team
